

Jeremiah said:

When I was going back to Jerusalem

I lifted up my eyes and saw a woman sitting

at the top of the mountain

She was clothed in black

her hair disheveled

crying and pleading

for someone to comfort her...

“I am your Mother Zion”

I implore you to approach these words and images with an open mind and heart. One would be bereft of a most crucial chapter in Jewish history if they declined to expose their soul and honestly investigate this age of upheaval.

— Ellen W. Horowitz

I have been a fan of Ellen's from the first column of hers that came across my computer. Her approach is unique and supremely effective. This is a mother talking, a mother of Israel. In all her writing you sense her deep love of her people. In her words, you hear the voice of Biblical Rachel, who weeps for her children, and beckons them to come home. Ellen Horowitz is precious....

Jack Engelhard
Novelist and syndicated columnist

As an intensely involved observer, Ellen Horowitz brings to her writing a passion that is not exclusive nor narrow-focused but ranges from the personal to the public, from humorous insights to cogent ideological arguments. Her insights are right on target and her prose is assuring in its commitment to truth, logic and rationality. Here is a voice that sounds the clarion wake-up call for a return to the fundamentals of Jewish nationalism, moral standards and the justice that Israel deserves...

Yisrael Medad
Vice Chairman, Israel's Media Watch

Whenever an article from Ellen Horowitz arrives on my desk, it immediately and automatically goes to the top of the pile. Ellen has an uncanny ability to convey her always timely, uncommonly “common sense” observations with both emotional appeal and strongly persuasive prose...

Nissan Ratzlav-Katz
Opinion Editor, Israel National News.com

Horowitz

□ THE OSLO YEARS □ A Mother's Journal □

THE OSLO YEARS

A Mother's Journal

by Ellen W. Horowitz